The NEW Message of a Master The Secret Laws

*Teachings of Prosperity, Wisdom
& the Keys to Success*

I am master of my own destiny, and I can make my life anything that I wish it to be.

It was Friday afternoon and I had returned from a late lunch. The employees had left for the day and I was alone in the office. Business had been dropping off steadily for some time, and I was concerned. I had also put far too great a percentage of my limited cash reserves into a risky investment that had been a failure. All in all, things didn't look good; in fact, I was facing some of the most serious problems of my business career.

As I was sitting deep in thought trying to resolve some of my problems, the phone rang. Placing the receiver to my ear I was startled to hear the familiar voice of an old friend. I could hardly believe my ears, for less than a month before he had left for Europe on the urgent advice of his physician to get away somewhere, in the hope that a change would cause an improvement in his condition, which was a serious breakdown, due to worry over conditions which, strangely, were similar to what I was now experiencing.

As he spoke, his voice carried such striking power and feeling that I was reminded of my last impression of him. The day we sorrowfully parted he was a miserable shadow of his former self, and I questioned whether I would ever see him again.

But here he was back again, and surely some great change had taken place in him. Remarking that a miracle must have happened, he assured me that I had guessed about right, adding, "I know that you are puzzled over my early return and I also know that you never expected to see me again. But I'm back and I'm the luckiest man in the world, for I learned something that I never knew existed. "Nothing is impossible with me anymore, for I can do anything. I am master of my own destiny and I can make my life anything that I wish it to be."

"Before you think I'm crazy, wait until you hear my story." Feigning a laugh to cover my serious curiosity, I remarked that he must have stumbled on a new religion. To which he replied, "On the contrary, it concerns no religion of any kind or of anybody. You see, I met a Master. A wonderful man who has so developed his powers that he can do anything, and he taught me a secret that no price could ever buy. You know that I lost my health and I lost my wealth. Well, I have regained my health and I will have the wealth in no time." Of course I became excited to see him at once and when we hung up he said, "Meet me at the club at 9:00 tonight and I will unfold a series of the most remarkable and fortunate happenings that could fall to the lot of any man."

I sat there unmoved for some minutes like I was in a dream. Upon recovering myself I became possessed of the feeling that there was something wonderful for me in his story, I was seized with an uncontrollable desire to hear it at once. I went out for a walk and turned in the direction of his office, but recalling that he was no longer there, was forced to wait until evening. The remainder of that day was spent in restlessly pacing the streets and I was greatly relieved when the hour to go to the club arrived.

Having resolved to get him away where we would not be disturbed, I entered and stepped quickly to the desk, only to be informed that he had telephoned some time before to tell me that he had been called away and would be back the following evening. Trying to conceal my feelings of disappointment, I turned quickly and was greeted by three friends who had seen him, and each was excitedly trying to tell me of the wonders that had taken place. Miserable and disheartened, I broke away from them without uttering a word, walked out into the night and home.

Too agitated for sleep, the greater part of the night was passed in restless confusion. Assailed by the most illogical thoughts, I decided that the whole thing was a myth, conjured up in a mind weakened as the result of affliction. How utterly ridiculous to allow myself to be taken in by such a fairy tale. But somehow the feeling would not go away and kept forcing itself upon me. I tried to console myself with the assurance that I would at any cost learn the truth of the whole matter the next day.

*There are no limits to your possibilities!
Your successes will multiply and increase in proportion
to your mastery of the Law.
Extraordinary things like this occur frequently to most of us,
but we disregard them, because of our lack of understanding,*

The next night he picked me up at my home in a new, high-priced car, and we drove to the club. There, in a private dining room, undisturbed by the presence of others, I had the opportunity to study my old friend.

Surely some miraculous change had taken place in him. His countenance glowed with health and vitality. He was calm, poised and everything about him exuded confidence. I felt perfectly at ease in his company, but I also felt the force of some presence in him that I could neither understand nor describe. Whatever it was, it had the effect of putting one at ease while at the same time commanding great respect. I found it difficult to conceal the emotions that surged up within me, for I felt convinced that he had something that I sorely needed and I had the strangest fear that something might occur that would prevent my getting it.

He broke our silence and asked, “Do I look any different than the day I left?” I had to admit that he was both a revelation and a mystery to me. I asked him what had happened and he said, “I was at a theatre in London when I met the man, or the Master, as he is called, that I am now deeply grateful to be able to call my friend. When I left here I was ready to end it all, I had made such a mess of my affairs. But I feared to live and I feared to die. I couldn’t rest. To keep moving was my only relief. I guess I was what the world would call a hopeless case.”

“As I look back upon that evening in London, I now realize that my utter despondency and intense longing to find something to relieve me drew me and my dear friend together. I had thought my ticket was for a regular orchestra seat, but discovered that for some unexplainable reason I received a box seat and found myself seated beside my friend. Extraordinary happenings, such as this, occur frequently to many of us and are explained away, because of our ignorance, as merely coincidences. But I know differently now.”

“As we sat there, I could feel that my uneasiness attracted his attention. There was a wonderful radiance about him and I felt an instinctive urge to open my heart to him. Something seemed to tell me that I had the good fortune of being in the presence of one of a great, spiritual person.”

“At the close of the performance I was overjoyed at his invitation to accompany him to a nearby café. When we arrived, I noticed that the attention of those in the café was drawn toward him as we entered and that the management was noticeably respectful and courteous toward him. Having convinced myself that this man possessed some sort of magical power, I determined to ask him all the questions that I could think of and with his permission make notes of his answers.”

“When he told me that he was boarding a steamer for New York the next day, I asked if I might accompany him, and he agreed. At the conclusion of our talk he merely wrote his initials on the bill. I asked him if he frequented that cafe and he told me this was his first visit to there. He smiled and assured me that they would be paid, adding, ‘I did this to show you that man in his right domain controls every situation.’ I was still puzzled, but carried the subject no further, hoping that it would all be made plain to me later.”

“That night, as I lay in bed, the events of the evening kept passing through my mind and at times I found it difficult to believe that my good fortune was real. That night I had the first peaceful sleep in months.”

Believe me, you can have anything you want – and in abundance – when you learn to tune into the power within, an infinitely greater power than electricity, a power you have had from the beginning.

“The following morning, up early and supremely happy and eager for what the day would unfold, I immediately applied for a reservation on the steamer, only to be informed that they had a full passenger list, I turned away, heartbroken and couldn’t believe my ears when the clerk called out to me telling me that a reservation had just been cancelled and that it was mine if I wanted it. Instantly I felt forcibly struck with the thought that here was more of my friend’s ‘magic,’ as I then called it, and I was not mistaken, for he later admitted that he had made a place for me.”

“Right at that moment my friend arrived, surrounded by attendants eager to be of service and assistance.”

“The first evening, I visited him in his luxuriously-furnished stateroom. He explained the wonderful forces that man has permitted to lie dormant within him and he gave me several demonstrations of the powers that he has developed. He did things that were actually astounding. After these demonstrations, he asked, ‘Why cannot you do what I do? Why cannot all do as I do? I have no powers that you are not endowed with. The only difference between you and I is that I have knowledge of Universal Law and I have developed the powers within me, while you, have been dissipating and scattering yours. All men use the same power, for in all the universe there is but one power. This is self-evident, as you shall see.'

'Continuing, he said: 'the great masses of humanity are using the Law destructively or partially so, and the scales are balanced against them. Here and there, among the masses, we find an occasional outstanding figure who has achieved greatness or success and he is erroneously singled out as lucky or as a genius, when the fact is that he has made use of the Law – either knowingly or unknowingly – and this use of the Law has balanced things in his favor. How plain this is to the one who knows.'

'Before man discovered electricity, it was a great force lying dormant throughout the universe. To use the great power of electricity, first he had to discover it. It is exactly the same with the Universal Law.

'Happiness is man's rightful heritage. The very soul of man cries out for happiness, but he misinterprets it in terms of money. Why? Because money is but a means to an end. It is the motivating power which drives us on in our quest for the ultimate, which is happiness. In this world, it is true that there cannot be happiness without a certain amount of money. Therefore the occupation of acquiring money is a worthy and commendable one.'

'Why then do so many suffer all sorts of lack, misery and unhappiness? When you think about it, it is ridiculous for anyone (no matter what their station is in life), to believe that it is their destiny to lack anything that will contribute to his happiness or that of his family.'

'Somebody discovers the law governing the use of electricity and we have radio. Millions of people are now enjoying its advantages. They tune in to what they want and they get it. There is a great lesson in this, for believe me, you can have anything you want and in great abundance, when you learn to tune in to the power within, an infinitely greater power than electricity, that you have had from birth.'

'The captain of this ship could just as easily own it as run it. One position is no more difficult to attain than the other. He tuned in to the captaincy successfully. Ownership was a little more distant and he did not try for distance. That is the only difference. The actual difference in the two positions is merely the difference in two words. Nothing more, as you shall see very plainly when we get a little further along.’

“Each night, after retiring to my room, I would sit up until early morning reading my notes from the day and preparing questions for the next. He told me that I was very ‘receptive’ because of my eagerness, sincerity and trust, and that it was a pleasure to instruct me. And in gratitude I acknowledged that no price was too high or sacrifice too great in return for such knowledge.”

“One day I asked him when and how he discovered such a secret and he responded, ‘I discovered nothing and to me it is no secret. This knowledge has been in our family as far back as our records go. I use it because I know it to be the easy, certain way of accomplishing a purpose. Up until now, like most other people, you have only known the difficult, uncertain way.’ He seemed never to want to take credit for anything, always claiming that no credit was due him.”

*There are no limits to your possibilities!
Your successes will multiply and increase in proportion
to your mastery of the Law.*

“I was rapidly regaining my health and strength and was becoming fired with an irresistible ambition to get back and start all over again. I realized I had wasted many valuable years in my old way, and I was eager to start again in this new way.”

“As we reached the end of our voyage I was filled with the feeling that I was soon to part from my great benefactor, to whom I had become greatly attached and to whom I owed so much. I handed him my card and asked for his, to which he replied, ‘I have no card, no name, no address. I am like the wind. I come from nowhere and I go everywhere. As for my name, you may call me Friend.’ I said that I would much prefer to call him Master, he replied, ‘No, no, not Master. Just Friend. That will do.’ Glancing at my card, he said, ‘I turn up at the most unexpected places. I might be out to see you soon. If I do, I will write to you.’

“As we said goodbye, I felt like a child leaving their parent. I will never forget the parting instructions that he gave me, ‘You are indeed a fortunate man. Just think of the millions of gifted, highly talented people, who are blessed with great abilities for success and leadership, and whose successes would mean so much to so many and yet they do not know what you know. They go on striving and straining, wasting their precious life force, only to find themselves dissatisfied, discouraged, disheartened, crushed, as you once were. They may be spurred on by that divine spark, that irresistible urge that tells them that there is a way but it eludes them and they live year after year burdened by lack and failure.’

‘You can avoid all of this! Go home. You have learned all that you will need. If you diligently follow the instructions that I have given, you may reach any heights. You may accomplish any worthy purpose easily and quickly. There is no limit to your possibilities. Your successes will multiply and increase in proportion to your mastery of the Law. With each success your faith in the Law will grow stronger until you reach the point of complete conviction and then you will be truly invincible.’

‘Bear in mind the warning that I have given you. Reveal nothing of this to even your dearest friend. To do so before you are powerfully fortified in the Law will only interfere with your plans, scatter your forces and consequently weaken their power for your good. So, keep your secret securely locked within your heart. You will never be able to work out another’s problems. Neither will another be able to work out yours. This is strictly a matter for each individual. Accomplishment of any kind, in any line, is the result of the operation of this inner force, discovered and set to work, and this must be done by each one for himself. There is no other way.’

‘Without doubt, you will have great successes in all of your life, in every way you wish. The time will come when you can retire from your material pursuits and devote yourself to helping others become free from the bondage of want, misery and unhappiness.’

“With those final words spoken, my friend entered a taxi with his servant and gave directions to this hotel, I started down the street unconscious of the crowds around me, filled with such a peculiar sensation of exaltation and buoyancy that I seemed to be floating along rather than walking.”

“On the train home I carefully avoided all unnecessary contact with my fellow passengers. I wanted to be alone and to think. I could not think of sparing any of my precious time for worthless, idle conversation and gossip. How useless it seemed to me now, when there was so compelling a purpose to try out my new teaching and not another day could be wasted. Nothing else interested me and nothing else mattered.”

“And that, my friend, is as much of my story as I am at liberty to reveal at this time. I have told you all of this in the hope that it will encourage you to discover this knowledge for yourself, in the right time.”

The 16 Secret Laws...

Here are the secret laws that changed my life

Each law (including instructions for using it to speed up your rate of attraction) is explained in detail in the New Message of Master program.

If you've ever wondered why your desires seem to take forever to arrive, or if you can't seem to get the law of attraction working for you consistently, the answer can be found in a deeper understanding of these laws.

The Laws...

1) The Law of Ignorance states that there is a time within any challenge or period of your life when you will be ignorant to the solutions and possibilities available to you, and just because you are not aware of a solution or possibility, doesn't mean there isn't one.

2) The Law of Revelation states that there will be a time with every challenge or period of your life when you move from ignorance of the solutions and possibilities around you to an awareness or revelation that there is more available to you than you have previously realized. You may not be able to fully identify what the solution or possibility is, but you do have the revelation that it exists.

3) The Law of Anticipation states that for every challenge and period of our life we will experience a period of great, positive, anticipation once we become aware that there are solutions and possibilities available to us that we were previously ignorant of. We literally get excited about and anticipate the reveal of the solutions and possibilities.

4) The Law of Seeking states that with every challenge and period of your life, once you are fully aware that there are solutions and possibilities available to you that you were previously ignorant to, you will begin to actively search and seek to uncover these solutions and possibilities.

5) The Law of Decision states that within every challenge and period of your life, once you begin to actively search and seek to uncover the solutions and possibilities around you, you will inevitably run into resistance and at the height of that resistance will come a moment of profound decision. You will either choose to turn back and give up your search or you will decide to see the challenges as mere obstacles on your path to inevitable success. If success is your decision, you choose it despite all appearances and challenges that suggest anything other than success and you decide to do whatever it takes to prevail.

6) The Law of Discovery states that within every challenge and period of your life, once you have decided to have complete faith and made that leap, then the source of all solutions and opportunities will be made available and visible to you.

7) The Law of Clearing states that within every challenge and period of your life, once the source of all solutions and opportunities will be made available and visible to you, you will need to go through a process of ‘clearing out’ old beliefs and opinions in order to make yourself ready to take full advantage of the power of the new solutions and opportunities of the Universal Law.

8) The Law of Outpicturing states that what manifests in our outer world is created first in our inner world. Most often we are taught or believe the process to be the exact opposite, but here is the truth, when you harness the true power of outpicturing, you will discover that you can manifest your desires in your outer world – but to do so, you must start within.

9) The Law of Release states that in order to realize the full power of the Universal Law, you must release your attachment to the physical and realize that the fixed picture in your mind – when connected to emotions – is the actual thing itself.

10) The Law of One Mind states that there is but one mind as there is but one electricity. The many minds that are sometimes referred to are merely expressions of the one mind as every wall outlet is merely an expression or access point to electricity.

11) The Law of Objective states that to tap into the full power of the Universal Law, you must have a set, definite objective. With this set, definite objective – the inner and outer mind can immediately align to manifest that objective.

12) The Law of Secrecy states that harnessing the full power of the Universal Law requires secrecy. When your objective is expressed too early, too soon – the energy and force behind your objective dissipates. Secrecy throws the full power of Universal Law behind your objective as your inner mind seeks to out-picture that objective as quickly and powerfully as possible.

13) The Law of Reserve states that continued, powerful use of the Law is only possible when you consistently replenish your life force and nourish your spirit and energy. Outpicturing your set, definite objectives requires consistent focus of your life energy and therefore you must replenish that energy consistently. When you do, there is no limit to what you can master and manifest.

14) The Law of Nourishment states that to keep your life force nourished is as simple as a few, powerful words that when used in specific, nightly practice will feed your energy and replenish your life force.

15) The Law of Resistance states that whenever you put your life force toward manifesting a set, definite objective – you will meet with resistance. Contrary to popular belief, resistance actually helps you in mastering the Universal Law.

16) The Law of Mastery states that you truly are the master of your mind and life force – continue to work with the sub-laws and the power of your mastery will become unlimited.

Law 1: “The Law Of Ignorance”

The Law of Ignorance states that there is a time within any challenge or period of your life when you will be ignorant to the solutions and possibilities available to you, and just because you are not aware of a solution or possibility, doesn't mean there isn't one.

Have you ever been struggling with an issue and found yourself at what seemed like the very edge of hopelessness? Maybe you worried about your finances or about something going on at work. We've all faced struggles with uncertainty, or worry, born out of fear of the unknown.

Sometimes the things we worry about take up so much of our focus that our disease and dis-comfort begin to manifest physically. Let's face it: stressful thoughts cause stressed out physical and mental conditions. We can worry ourselves right into the hospital if we're not careful.

Just as there can be great fear in not knowing, there can be great excitement in the promise of new possibilities. Our current state of mind has created our current life conditions. If we're experiencing abundance, that's in direct correlation to the thoughts we hold about our prosperity. If we're experiencing turmoil, it's because the thoughts and beliefs we hold are tumultuous. The one absolute thing we can know is that our conditions are only temporary, no matter what they are. Every moment holds unlimited possibilities – whether you are aware of them or not.

At any moment, you can alter your thoughts about a situation, and completely change the outcome. Doing so allows for infinite possibilities to unfold. The Universe is constantly conspiring to bring into your existence that which you focus on. If your focus is on how bad things are, you are inviting more experiences into your existence to feel bad about. It simply takes one small shift in your focus and emotion to allow for what you truly desire to unfold in front of you. You do not have to know the outcome of any given situation - you only need to know that each situation holds limitless potential.

Right at the very moment that the narrator of the story was struggling, he was interrupted by a call from someone important in his life, someone who had experienced many of the same struggles. Was this coincidence or divine intervention?

The perception our narrator held of his friend was immediately challenged, because his friend had experienced such a transformation. His vitality and enthusiasm for life was so strong, that the narrator was immediately impacted, spiritually and physically.

The intense stress that the long lost friend had been under was most likely the very reason he experienced the decline in his health. Remember, our feelings manifest into physical conditions. Once the friend changed his emotional state, his health improved.

∞ When we embrace that we are masters of our own destiny, we can begin to understand our own power.

∞ When amazing things take place, sometimes we find them so amazing, that we try to dismiss them as too-good-to-be-true, rather than accepting that every moment holds infinite possibilities.

Exercise:

Think of a time when you were struggling over an issue. Perhaps you were worried about your finances, or about the outcome of a situation at work.

How did these concerns make you feel physically?

How did you feel emotionally?

How does it make you feel when it appears that you don't have control over the outcome of a situation?

---

What kind of emotions do you experience when you feel empowered?

---

Affirmations:

You can open yourself up to new experiences and new possibilities by embracing the idea that you know everything you need to know, when you need to know it. When you find yourself struggling over a situation or decision, use any of the following affirmations to change your vibration:

'I am a creative, intelligent being, with a wealth of knowledge and experience.'

'I can successfully handle any situation that presents itself.'

'I am a powerful creator of my own destiny.'
